

Pianos in the Parks 2017
July 13–30

Pianos in the Parks is a public art and event series taking place in parks and public spaces around King County. Now in its fourth year, the 2017 program will include eleven pianos painted by local artists. Five of these will remain in area parks and public spaces for the full run of the program, while the Pianos in the Parks single-day event series will feature another six pianos—one piano per event—on three consecutive weekends in July.

The permanent pianos, which will be in parks from July 15 – 30, will be placed in visible, high traffic areas as far south as SeaTac Airport, and as far east as Si View Park in North Bend. These will be available for the public to play any time during the day, seven days a week.

The series will kick off with an opening reception at 12th Avenue Arts during the July 13 Capitol Hill Art Walk, featuring all eleven pianos, giving the public a chance to see, and play, all of them in one place. Following that will be full day programmed events each remaining Saturday and Sunday in July. These events will feature a mix of music performances, free youth piano lessons, plus visual, literary, and other arts components.
